A STUDENTS' GUIDE TO LIFE IN CORNWALL

DAYTIME

UNIVERSITY OF EXETER

What's going on here is extraordinary. And we want to share it with you. It's not just the beach barbeques. It's not just the climbing, walking, surfing, swimming and spectacular scenery right here on our doorstep. It's not just the cultural and creative vibrancy that attracts international artists, musicians and performers. And it's not just the growing population of students and young professionals that give the towns of Cornwall a great atmosphere.

It's a feeling. You get it as soon as you step off the train and breathe in deeply. You get it as you walk down Falmouth high street, bumping into people you know at every turn. It's there on the harbour front where you dip your toes in the water having a drink with friends.

It surrounds you in the beauty of the Tate St Ives. You can even taste it biting into a pasty after a blustery walk on The Lizard.

This guide is for you. Because we want you to get it too. Now is your time and Cornwall is waiting.

Study here and you will have the time of your life. After all, that is what university is all about.

A red and yellow flag flies on a white pole against a blue sky with scattered white clouds. The flag is positioned on a sandy beach with waves breaking in the background. The overall scene is bright and sunny.

WHEN I CHOSE THE UNIVERSITY OF EXETER CORNWALL CAMPUS, I HAD NO IDEA HOW MUCH WAS GOING ON HERE; IT WAS A LEAP OF FAITH. I HAD INKLINGS ABOUT THE WATERSPORTS AND LAID-BACK VIBE, BUT IT'S ONLY ONCE YOU GET HERE THAT YOU REALLY START TO APPRECIATE EVERYTHING THAT'S ON OFFER. ROWAN CRANWELL, GEOGRAPHY

I LOVE IT HERE...

Every university has clubs to keep you entertained, but at the Cornwall Campus we like to do things a bit differently. FXU, the dedicated Students' Union for the University of Exeter and University College Falmouth, represents the dynamic mix of students that you get by having two very different institutions on campus. This means that not only are all the usual clubs on offer; whether it's inside or out, university or community run, you'll also find clubs here that you won't find anywhere else. But then that's Cornwall for you.

EXPEDITION SOCIETY

What is the Expedition Society? A brilliant opportunity to get outside and make the most of our amazing surroundings. We go on day trips, weekends away and trips abroad and do things like boat trips, local walks, hikes, BBQs, bonfires and camping.

What is the most interesting expedition you have done?

The trip to the Pyrenees. It was a week long and involved camping and walking up mountains and around lakes in Spain. It wasn't too challenging but an awesome opportunity to see somewhere different with a group of like-minded people. The Dartmoor weekend was also really good, that was challenging though, we walked 30 miles across the moors over two days. We cater for all abilities though and offer a variety of activities!

How do you decide on what the next trip will be?

The committee meets up and we discuss ideas for each term and contact the rest of the society to see what they think. Ideas are always welcome...

Is there much of a social scene around the club? Definitely, each term we have a big social in Falmouth, and our expeditions are social events in themselves!

ROSE ROBERTS

CAPOEIRA CLUB

How would you describe Capoeira to a beginner? It's a martial art that combines music, dance and acrobatics with non-aggressive self-defence. It takes its roots in Africa but was actually developed in Brazil. In the UK there are about 100 schools in total, and I think this is the only one in Cornwall.

Is it easy to learn? If you're good at picking up dance moves it is; you need to be able to co-ordinate your strength and flexibility. But in terms of difficulty, it's a bit like a language – if you want to learn the basics all you need are a few words. I've seen people who can't even cartwheel normally come to the club and get really into it.

Do you just train? Or are there tournaments too? We perform at carnivals, and also do impromptu events around towns. We went to the Moor (in the centre of Falmouth) last year, and to play Capoeira in the streets is just so nice.

What sort of people do Capoeira?

Everyone. Capoeira attracts really interesting, individual people. It's full of personalities and it's very social. Also, we have a lot of music going on while we play. With Capoeira you don't just train, you learn the music too. So we play drums and teach people to play the berimbau; a one-stringed, wooden instrument.

Is there a social scene around the club?

Yeah, one of the reasons the club is so popular is because of the social side. When you train you have to work very closely with other people, and as a result we all hang out together a lot – have BBQs, parties etc.

On Au Sem Mao

This move (in the pic) takes a while to learn, but if you're naturally good at gymnastics it's quite easy. Translated it roughly means cartwheel without hands.

FALMOUTH GIG CLUB

What is gig rowing? A gig is a traditional 32-foot-long rowing boat rowed by six people and a cox. You have one oar each, with three people rowing each side.

Do many students row? We have lots of young people coming to the club, both students and locals – it's a great way of making friends in the community and getting out on the water.

Is it just a summer thing? No, we train throughout the year, rain or shine. We've even been out in snow and hail before, although that does hurt a little!

How often do you go out? The club rows every day of the week. There is club rowing on Monday and Fridays with Friday Night racing in the harbour, crew rowing Tuesdays and Thursdays and novice rowing on Wednesdays at 6pm. There are racing events at weekends all over Cornwall during the summer.

How easy is it to join? It couldn't be simpler – you just head down to the Watersports Centre on Wednesday, pay one pound fifty per novice session and get in a gig. We'll show you the rest! If you like it you can become a member when you're comfortable with the rowing.

What's the biggest race you do?

The Isles of Scilly World Championships is very large. We take 14 crews and five boats and there are 109 gigs on the start line, so it's a pretty awesome sight. And of course there's lots of socialising throughout the weekend. It's great fun.

SURF CLUB

Do you have to be a good surfer to join?

Not at all! We have surfers of all abilities from absolute beginners to sponsored riders. We have great links with Falmouth and Porthtowan Surf School, who pick up from campus and provide equipment for beginners. The club also has a variety of boards for hire.

But I don't have a car! No problem. We have a car sharing scheme on our Facebook group and we also borrow the Students' Union (FXU) minibus.

Where do you surf? Depending on the wind direction and sea conditions, we might head for the north coast to beaches such as Porthtowan, Godrevy and Gwithian, or the south coast beaches like Praa Sands, Hendra and Porthleven Reef.

ROWAN CRANWELL

Do you compete? We enter the BUCS Surf Championships and have won for the last two years running. We also organise an annual surf competition and invite students from Plymouth Uni and Exeter's other campuses (in Exeter) to compete against our best surfers. This South West showdown not only sees some great surfing but helps raise money for local charities. It's also a good laugh!

Is there a good social scene around the club? Yeah it's great. We are a very sociable lot and organise club socials and parties throughout the year.

JONNY HARRIS & BEN GATLEY

Tell us about the seaswimming club?

It's totally fun and recreational, nothing too serious. We meet up every Sunday at Gyllyngvase Beach and go for a swim. It's just a social event really. The club starts around Freshers' Week and runs throughout the year.

How long has it been going? There was a guy who was aiming to swim the Channel a few years ago, and he would train every week. Then his mates started going down and training with him every now and then, and from that the club just started.

How many members are there?

There are 269 on the books, although the numbers actually change throughout the year. Because it's a free club, people can just turn up if and when they want to.

Do you need to be of a certain standard to join?

We take it easy first of all, and we don't push it that much. Then we build it up as the year goes on. We don't force anyone to do anything they don't want to.

Is Cornwall's setting important to the club?

The sea being on our doorstep is great, and I think that's why the club is so popular.

What equipment do you need?

We try and stick with the trunks and hat ethos, but you can wear whatever you want. Most people are happy with the trunks and hat thing though!

Do you just train or are there other things that happen too?

It's a social society, that's how it started off. We had fundraisers last year though, and have been sponsored by St Austell brewery. We also did our first tour, where we went to Ilfracombe in Devon and swam there.

Is the water temperature ever a problem?

Well people can come and go when they like, and there's no set distance people have to swim. If you want to just stay in the shallows, then that's fine.

Do you put on events?

There are loads of social events. The club is a social event itself – we just meet up, go for a swim, and then grab a hot chocolate and have a chat in the Gylly Beach café afterwards.

JAMES BROOKS

EcoSoc

How did EcoSoc get started? The Society was initially set up for students studying Conservation Biology and Ecology. From its humble beginnings EcoSoc has evolved into one of the largest FXU-affiliated clubs and we now offer membership to any student from any degree.

What sort of events does EcoSoc run? EcoSoc is one of the most active clubs on campus. This year our famous fresher's pirate party was a sell out and we have organised many other events. Students have got involved with barn owl tracking, badger watching and habitat restoration and among other things the world famous Marcus Harrison came to campus to teach students about edible wild foods.

Is there anything else to EcoSoc? Our main focus is to give our members the opportunity to get involved with ecologically-focused activities, but beneath the surface we most enjoy getting outdoors and getting dirty! You don't need to have an active interest in biology to join, most of our activities appeal to a wide audience. We enjoy the diversity it creates when people with many different outlooks on life get together, whether it's to shoot each other with paintballs or learn about our environment and the things students can do to make a difference.

What plans are there for EcoSoc in the future? Onwards and upwards. Why not get involved yourself and help make EcoSoc even better! Our committee is made up of students and we all volunteer our time and effort to make sure our members have opportunities which are either a good laugh or a chance to develop your skills and CV in the conservation sector where work experience is a must.

SIMON WEST

THE BEST THING ABOUT BEING IN CORNWALL IS HOW CLOSE WE ARE TO THE OCEAN AND SO MANY GREAT BEACHES. IT'S ONE OF THE REASONS I BELIEVE THAT PEOPLE ARE SO MUCH MORE LAID-BACK, RELAXED AND IN TUNE WITH THE NATURAL PACE OF LIFE - THERE JUST ISN'T THE CHAOS OF A BIG CITY. PAUL TURNER, GEOGRAPHY

IN MY FIRST YEAR, A FEW OF US WENT POT-HOLING
DOWN AN OLD MINE, SWAM IN THE SEA, CAMPED NEAR THE COAST AND ALL MUCKED IN FOR A GREAT BBQ.
IT WAS AN AWESOME EXPERIENCE, AND THE FIRST OF MANY!

HOLLY MOULDING, MINING ENGINEERING

LIVING ALONGSIDE UNIVERSITY COLLEGE FALMOUTH STUDENTS MEANS YOU GET ROPEDED INTO ALL KINDS OF CRAZY THINGS; I'VE DONE EVERYTHING FROM BEING AN EXTRA IN A FILM TO HELPING LUG WASHING MACHINES AROUND TOWN FOR AN ART PROJECT.

NADIYA HUSSAIN, ENGLISH

Cornwall isn't just about beaches, brisk walks and barbeques. Sure, we've got all that on our doorstep, but there is so much more to do in the county than getting out in the fresh air.

If it's art you're after, heading down to one of the many galleries in Falmouth will pay off. Falmouth Art Gallery and Gallery 49 are always great bets for quirky, inspiring and thought-provoking pieces. Living in an area with a big art student population guarantees loads of exciting art events all year round, with many of them taking place on campus. Head out of town and there's plenty more to get your juices flowing. The Tate St Ives is an awesome building right on the beach front with international, national and local exhibitions, and the Newlyn Art Gallery holds old classics and exciting contemporary art to get you thinking, as well as the Exchange a new gallery in the centre of Penzance. It's a cutting-edge arts and media centre with the biggest exhibition space west of Bristol.

Get a taste of Falmouth's sea-faring past and future at the Maritime Museum – it's got all kinds of water-based offerings (including an underwater viewing gallery) and students get a 30% discount. Right next door is Events Square which plays host to everything from the annual Oyster and Sea Shanty Festivals to Falmouth Week, a huge sailing regatta.

Eating is always high up the agenda and in Falmouth there are loads of great places to sate your hunger – from the Pier Café for a Boatman's Breakfast to Five Degrees West offering great gastro pub grub. For Veggie food, Pea Souk is the perfect option, while the Gylly Beach Café serve a great curry with a pint for £5.

Finally, for a spot of retail therapy, Falmouth really delivers if you're into independent shops. Secrets Boutique is the place to find a funky prom dress and vintage accessories, while the fortnightly Kitty Gubbin's Vintage Flea Market is a must for retro and vintage clothing. Heading to Truro (£2.10, 20 minutes by train) gets you to all the high street favourites.

THREE OF THE BEST

SHOPS IN FALMOUTH & PENRYN

Jam Browse their wide range of CDs, vinyl and art books, or sink into one of their leather sofas with a coffee and a magazine – this is music shopping as it should be.

The Natural Store From organic pasties, to environmentally friendly household products, with ethically sound cheesecake in between, this shop has everything you need to keep your conscience squeaky clean.

Freeriders Surf clothing and hardware with friendly expert advice, the guys at Freeriders really know their stuff. And there's a second-hand board section, which is easier on the pocket too.

MOJO GUITARS

The hub of live music in Falmouth, this guitar shop is more of a meeting and jamming place with a great vibe. Check the door for fly-postered gig and event info in Falmouth and beyond.

ON THE WATER

Falmouth is one of the UK's most historic harbours, so if you're interested in sailing, watersports, tall ships, sea shanties and oyster festivals, you couldn't come to a better place. Plus if surfing's what you're after, a string of top-class beaches lie less than half an hour's drive away.

Sitting on a strip of land between two river estuaries, Falmouth is renowned for offering some of the best sailing in the UK. Learn to sail in the sheltered creeks of the Fal and Helford estuaries, or head out to the open sea for some salty exhilaration. Falmouth School of Sailing and FXU's own Sailing Club both offer excellent tuition – start in a dinghy and work your way up.

Alternatively, you can explore the coast's secluded beaches and waterside pubs by kayak or canoe. Hire kayaks and Canadian canoes from Elemental UK on Swanpool beach, and head along the sheltered coast to Maenporth beach or even around to the Helford River to land up and indulge in a spot of sunbathing. You can also get hold of windsurf equipment and lessons at Elemental. Or, back in town, you can hire a rowing boat for the day from Falmouth Watersports Centre.

Last but by no means least, there's Cornwall's other best-known activity, surfing – and plenty of it too. Falmouth Surf School is affordable and friendly, and offers transport, equipment and tuition at a number of Cornwall's best surfing beaches. Gwithian is great for learning, while Porthtowan is a lovely beach that is suited to more experienced surfers. Meanwhile, Praa Sands is a good spot for south coast action. If it's too windy to surf, why not try kitesurfing? Beginners can book lessons at the Extreme Academy at Watergate Bay on the north coast, or through Mobius kite school, who offer tuition all over west Cornwall.

THREE OF THE BEST

BEACHES WITHIN HALF AN HOUR

Porthtowan Porthtowan's got it all – from wicked surf conditions to impressive views. Once you've tired of the waves, The Blue Bar (great food, live music) is just a few steps away.

Gyllyngvase Whether it's drinking hot chocolate at the Café, catching a bit of sunshine, learning to surf or playing volleyball with your mates, as a student you'll spend a lot of your time at Gylly Beach in Falmouth.

Flushing There's nothing quite like getting the water-taxi from Falmouth to Flushing, and then chilling out on the beach for an evening with your mates armed with just a disposable BBQ and some beers.

UNDER WATER

The area around Falmouth and the Lizard Peninsula offers some of the best diving in the UK. With clear waters, diverse marine life and many wrecks to explore, what more could you ask? There's also the Scylla Reef, a superb leisure diving spot off the south coast this side of Plymouth. Cornish Diving in Falmouth rents diving equipment and offers big student discounts on its PADI courses.

Cornwall's unique location and diverse landscape mean that you have some of the UK's best outdoor activities – right on your doorstep.

The Adventure Centre at Lusty Glaze (Newquay) is a good place to start, perfect for all your adrenalin-hunting needs. Try your hand at tunneling or abseiling, and be sure to relive all those memories from The Goonies by taking a trip on the 750ft Zip Run. Meanwhile, the wonderfully named Tension Diagonal gets you from cliff to beach in the shortest time possible.

If skating/BMXing is your thing, then you can get a regular fix at Mabe Skate Park, just minutes from campus. For something more sophisticated, try the massive Mount Hawke Indoor Skate Park near Truro – what with it being one of the country's best n' all. Other ways to get your heart pumping in Cornwall include old favourites like paintball and quad-biking (near Truro), and go-karting (near Newquay).

But Cornwall doesn't just offer adrenalin-fuelled activities to keep you occupied. A great (and cheap) way to get outdoors is simply to walk, with hundreds of coastal and moorland routes to choose from. One of the most beautiful is from the Lizard Point to Kynance Cove; it's only two miles long but you'll get enough stunning cliff top views in that short stretch to last you a whole term! Plus you'll pass the Polpeor Café, which has the joint accolade of being 'the most southerly café in mainland Britain' and provider of delicious cakes worth writing home about. But don't forget to leave room for something from Ann's Pasties – believe us, it's worth it.

WALKING TO PENDENNIS VIA GYLLINGVASE BEACH AND LOOKING OUT TO SEA REMINDS ME OF WHY I'M SO LUCKY TO LIVE IN FALMOUTH. IT'S MY FAVOURITE PLACE TO SIT AND FORGET EVERYTHING, PARTICULARLY ON A SUNDAY OR AFTER A DAY STUDYING. DOWN HERE THERE ARE SO MANY WALKS ACCESSIBLE TO ANYBODY THAT THERE IS NEVER ANY EXCUSE NOT TO GET OUT AND ABOUT!

ACTIVITIES OUTSIDE

Bissoe Trail (Bissoe to Portreath) Cycle from Bissoe (5 miles from campus) through historic mining country – and don't miss out on the Portreath Beach Café at the end! If you want some company try the FXU Cycling Club.

Glendurgan (near Falmouth) One of Cornwall's best kept secrets, the gardens of Glendurgan are perfect for a hazy outdoor afternoon. Best of all, there's a really good maze for you to lose yourself in.

The Track, Portreath Home to what has been called "the finest dirt jumping facility in the United Kingdom", The Track boasts a five-acre floodlit site that caters for all riding levels. It also stages national competitions.

SOMETHING EVERYONE HAS TO TRY ONCE IN THEIR LIFE IS SWIMMING IN THE SEA WHEN IT'S POURING DOWN WITH RAIN. THE SPLASHING OF THE RAINDROPS ON THE SEA'S SURFACE IS PRETTY MAGICAL.

GYLLY BEACH CAFÉ

From its open mic nights on a Sunday to the local band gigs that raise the roof, this is no ordinary beach café. The guys here have their finger well and truly on the pulse of the local music scene and do great grub too! Oh, and keep an eye open for the fire jugglers on the beach as the sun goes down.

MUSIC

IT'S GREAT KNOWING THAT WHATEVER NIGHT OF THE WEEK YOU HEAD OUT, THERE'S GOING TO BE SOMETHING ON TO ENTERTAIN YOU. LIVE MUSIC IS A REAL INSTITUTION IN FALMOUTH AND YOU'RE ALWAYS HAPPENING UPON NEW BANDS AND NIGHTS BY CHANCE. YOU CAN'T BEAT IT. CHARLTON BLAND, BIOLOGY

Closer to home, if you want a live music fix, Falmouth will definitely deliver; the whole town is awash with gigs. From metal to jazz and open mic, there's a real sense of community here and a DIY spirit unlike anywhere else in the country – in fact you'll easily find live music in Falmouth every night of the week. If you want to put on a night, chances are you'll be able to do it without much hassle at all (there are numerous pubs, clubs and venues open to ideas).

Local hotspots like Miss Peapod's, the Tap Rooms and Gylly Beach Café are fast gaining a reputation for putting on some of the most eclectic gigs you're likely to encounter. And with the area being such a creative hub, you can almost always guarantee that there'll be a buzzing audience on hand too.

THREE OF THE BEST

LIVE VENUES

The Front

Offering everything from folk music and Cornish dancing on a Monday to live jazz on a Sunday... and with lots more in between.

Number 20

For a chilled out night, wander down to No 20 in Penryn on a Thursday for live music from local musicians and singers.

Princess Pavillions

Falmouth's theatre-style venue with recent gigs from Seth Lakeman, Dreadzone and Ruarri Joseph.

MUSIC

The Cornish music scene is varied and vibrant with a span of great venues providing the best bands with a platform on which to wow the crowds.

The acclaimed Eden Sessions have seen everyone from Kasabian, Muse and Amy Winehouse to Basement Jaxx and Pulp play legendary shows, with the world-famous biomes providing a stunning backdrop.

Something of an institution, the Beach Break Live festival on the North Coast is a must for celebrating the end of your summer exams. Like Glastonbury but on the beach, this massive student festival has seen the likes of The Enemy, Dizzee Rascal, The Zutons and The Wombats.

But Cornwall isn't about endless amounts of massive one-off gigs. Sure, we get the big names but our music scene has so much more to it than the same acts you see on bills countrywide. We've got intimate, atmospheric gigs and events that feel like you are really experiencing something, with venues like the Blue Bar (Porthtowan), the Watering Hole (Perranporth), the Cuckoo Bar (Truro) and the Koola Club (Newquay) leading the way. From up and coming electro-punk bands shaking their stuff to hot and sticky funk and soul nights that have you dancing 'til you drop, these places have it all. In keeping with the inclination to get outside in Cornwall, many mini-festivals appear across the county for a day or two with some great music to watch the evening sun go down.

TIME OUT: A WEEKEND OFF?

Take your tent and a BBQ for a Saturday night with a difference at the many small campsites just a short drive away but with a change of scenery to make you smile. Cornwall is designed for enjoying the al fresco life and you can pitch your tent at beach-side spots and treat yourself to a bit of fresh local fish or catch it yourself! One night away at the weekend can feel like a proper holiday; and it's a lot cheaper...

For more live action entertainment head to the Hall for Cornwall in Truro, with its varied and exciting line up of touring theatre, dance, comedy and big name gigs. Past shows include Bloc Party, Elbow, Newton Faulkner, Coldplay, Jimmy Carr, The Donmar Warehouse, the BRB and loads more besides – and students get concession prices (and free tickets on a Wednesday night!).

A little further afield but an experience not to be missed, the Minack Theatre at Porthcurno never fails to astound, with breathtaking views across the sea from an amphitheatre nestled into the cliff. Cornwall's own Wildworks, Miracle and Kneehigh theatre companies also put on spectacular outdoor productions every summer – don't miss the opportunity to watch plays in castles, subtropical gardens or even down an old mine.

Two nights out in Cornwall are never the same. Whether it's wandering around Falmouth following a trail of films projected onto buildings' windows, popping into a bustling gallery as it has its latest exhibition launch (trust us it happens a lot!) or having a quiet drink only for a ukelele band to strike up as part of an open-mic night, going out in Cornwall always keeps you on your toes wherever you go and whatever you do – that's what makes it so special.

CULTURE

STUDYING IN CORNWALL ISN'T LIKE GOING TO UNIVERSITY IN A BIG CITY, BUT THERE'S ALWAYS SO MUCH TO DO AND SO MANY PEOPLE AROUND; A LOT MORE THAN I PREVIOUSLY EXPECTED AND IT'S GREAT! KATE COOLING, ENGLISH

HEAD DOWN TO THE MINACK THEATRE WITH A PICNIC AND WATCH A PLAY
AS THE SUN SETS OVER THE SEA...

TIME OUT: AN HOUR OR TWO TO KILL?

The Poly, Falmouth's own art centre with independent films and big box office releases as well as exhibitions and live performances showing daily. And students get a discount!

You'll find a host of other creative events happening locally. Try out your new material on Poetry Night at Words Coffee Shop in Penryn. Or how about Knit Club at Babahogs Art Café in Falmouth; complete with professional knitting coaches! And of course, with such a large local art student population, you're sure to find plenty of intimate exhibitions popping up all over the place.

If street art is more your thing, local art group Artade are always looking for new people (artade.co.uk). "Artade is an exciting collection of the freshest, up-and-coming sub-culture artists in Cornwall" explains Louis Michel, former Cornwall Campus 'ite' and creator of Artade. In the past the collective has transformed bars and unusual public spaces to show work, often providing live DJs and encouraging viewers to create their own work at the event. "The main objective is to reach an environment that everyone can enjoy and feel welcome," said Louis. "We do this by mixing both gallery and street art qualities to every event and show."

CULTURE

After hours in Cornwall doesn't just mean drinking and dancing; there is a whole wealth of ways to fill your evenings if you want something a little more cerebral or something to tempt your sense of adventure.

Falmouth's very own art centre and independent cinema, The Poly, is a great place to start if you fancy a touch of culture – it has constantly updated exhibitions, often from the art students and graduates that you'll share a campus with, as well as local and national artists. It also houses a quirky cinema-cum-theatre that gets interesting independent and art films, as well as blockbusters and live music, theatre and dance. If you fancy a traditional cinema experience, the brand new Phoenix Cinema in Falmouth offers big box office hits every day of the week.

Staying on the film trip, the Cornwall Film Festival held in Falmouth every November is a must for film buffs, while the internationally renowned screening night Futureshorts visits Penzance's Acorn Arts Centre regularly and is worth checking out if you like to know what's cutting edge in the world of short films. The Acorn Theatre also has some great live acts to offer so it's always worth keeping an eye on their programme.

FALMOUTH'S NIGHTCLUBS

Falmouth has three main nightclubs: Remedies, Club International (aka Club I) and Shades.

Remedies is the biggest and the place to be on a Monday and Friday. It's always rammed on both days, but free entry on Friday!

Shades is more trendy with a huge range of music. It plays virtually any genre from drum n bass to hip hop to rock to ska. It's not the biggest club but what it lacks in size it makes up with originality.

Club I has a large group of followers. With a massive dance floor and 3 bars it's the centre of pop music, cheesy anthems and dance music. Great for a more epic night out.

Falmouth is not just about pubs – it also has hip bars galore. The Tap Room is a cosy little place with a great cocktail menu and regular live music. Meanwhile Toast is one of the busiest bars in town, with DJs dishing up the party vibe most nights. The Shed serves cocktails with a colourful, kooky vibe. Over in Penryn, Miss Peapod's offers table tennis, live music nights with a great riverside decking area and they offer student specials and discounts. Number 20 is a cosy bar with events and live music throughout the week.

Out of town, Sand Bar (Praa Sands), Blue Bar (Porttowan), Sandsifter (Godrevy), and the Watering Hole (Perranporth) all offer food and live music in stunning beachside locations. Club 2K in Penzance sees top DJs and live bands travelling down from London, Brighton and Bristol, while over in Newquay, you'll find all the ingredients for a really big night out. Alternatively, make your way into Truro for yet more great bars, pubs and live music.

I CHOSE TO STUDY IN CORNWALL BECAUSE OF THE ATTRACTION OF AN INTIMATE STUDENT COMMUNITY AND ITS UNIQUENESS, BUT I WAS PLEASANTLY SURPRISED TO FIND THAT ALL THE AMENITIES THAT I WASN'T EXPECTING WERE HERE AS WELL. IF YOU WANT TO GO TO CLUBS, BARS AND CAFÉS THERE'S PLENTY OF DIVERSITY TO CHOOSE FROM. IAIN STOTT, BIOLOGY

IF THE WORK IS PILING UP AND YOU NEED A RELAXED EVENING BREAK, TRY ONE OF FALMOUTH'S TAPAS RESTAURANTS WITH YOUR FRIENDS - BODENES IS A GOOD BET. IF TAPAS DON'T QUITE DO IT FOR YOU THEN HEAD TO THE CHAINLOCKER FOR A QUIET BEER

BEFORE NIPPING ACROSS THE WAY TO THE MALI THAI RESTAURANT FOR A GOOD NIGHT OUT WITHOUT BREAKING THE BANK.

Laura Fusher, Geology

When it comes to nightlife, Falmouth has a lot more than meets the eye. From scenic pubs on the water's edge to stylish contemporary bars, nightclubs to boat parties, Falmouth has its own unique brand of after dark entertainment. A great selection of pubs, bars and nightclubs in places like Penzance, Newquay and Truro are also within surprisingly easy reach.

Surrounded by water, Falmouth doesn't half have some great views. Perched up on a hill overlooking the estuary, the Boathouse is one of Falmouth's most popular pubs, with a stunning covered decking area outside and heated lamps so you can enjoy it all the year round. In the centre of town, the Waterman's has a large decking area right on the water's edge, and busy roster of live bands and DJs. Meanwhile, the Chain Locker and Quayside are two lovely old-school pubs that share a big outside area overlooking the inner harbour, which gets packed out on most summer nights. Attached to the back of the Chain Locker, the Shipwright's Bar is a popular venue for parties and DJ/live music nights.

Ten minutes' walk over to the beach, the Gylly Beach Café is a great place to sup a cold beer while watching the moon on the sea – and keep an eye on their posters/flyers for yet more great live music. If you're after a couple of quiet ones in a nice traditional pub, Finn McCoul's and Jacob's Ladder are popular with students and often host live music.

HOLD IT DOWN

Bringing top notch acts down to the Stannary since its inception, Aaron Hornibrook of Hold It Down is a big fan of the venue, and with sell-out crowds and a great vibe it's easy to see why. "The atmosphere is awesome because the Stannary is always full of people who know how to have a good time and really let their hair down. Performers respond well to that, and almost everyone that plays here wants to come back."

AT A GLANCE

Freshers' Fortnight Two weeks (yes two!) of day and night activities for new and not-so-new students.

The Snow Ball The Stannary is transformed, everyone gets to be glamorous and mistletoe is aplenty.

Live Music Bands and DJs are a regular feature, from big names to local student bands.

Quiz Night Like a pub quiz but with hundreds of students!

The Big Picture Every Tuesday they show movies in the bar for everyone to watch, for free!

The Laughter Lounge A big comedy night, hosted by the Stannary once a term.

THE STANNARY

The Stannary is the largest capacity venue in Cornwall. It has played host to the likes of Dizzee Rascal, Mr Scruff and most recently Radio One DJ, Zane Lowe. It was the first place in the UK that Jack Johnson ever played. Performers love it for its atmosphere, it hosts everything from gigs to masked balls, and best of all – it's ours.

Situated on the Cornwall Campus, The Stannary is at the heart of entertainment in Cornwall, so you couldn't be closer to the action. And action there is, with something on almost every night of the week. "We've had everything from outlandish fancy dress nights to sell-out gigs," says Ben Catchpole, FXU Ents Officer. "We work very closely with all the best promoters in the South West, who are continuously bringing down acts as diverse as Donovan Frankenreiter, DJ Yoda, Spanky Wilson and Pendulum."

So it's a great place to see big names play to a big crowd, but what's so good about the Stannary is that it is a lot more than that too. Just like everything else in Cornwall it has so much to offer that you just wouldn't get anywhere else. The Cornwall Film Festival have run screenings here, it plays host to one of Cornwall's best comedy nights, and indoor skate jams, BMX demonstrations, surf parties and masked balls have also all been on the agenda.

In fact, almost any event you can imagine has, or will take place here. Because that's the beauty of studying at the Cornwall Campus – you become part of the scene. If you want to put a night on, host an event or even hold a skate competition you can. Or, if you'd rather let someone else do the hard work, you can just sit back and relax and let the great gigs, events and activities come to you.

A young man with glasses and a high-visibility vest is talking to a woman at a night event. The background is dark with warm, out-of-focus lights.

As a growing county filling up with young people, Cornwall is changing and it's inviting you to be part of its new identity. To create your Cornwall.
Exciting times.

AFTER FOUR YEARS IN CORNWALL AND FALMOUTH I AM STILL FINDING NEW PLACES TO EAT, DRINK AND VISIT. I WISH I HAD ANOTHER YEAR HERE. SO MANY STUDENTS CHOOSE TO STAY DOWN WITH THEIR MATES AFTER TERM ENDS, IT GIVES THE PLACE A REALLY GOOD FEELING TO KNOW EVERYONE IS HAVING SO MUCH FUN. HOLLY MOULDING, MINING ENGINEERING

New places and new experiences define nightlife in Cornwall.

We can't offer you the massive night clubs and stadium gigs that you might get at other universities, but then we wouldn't want to. What you get in Cornwall is distinctive. There are venues unlike any others; pubs, bars and restaurants of every kind, intimate nightclubs with bespoke décor and inspired club nights and a live music culture that takes some beating.

Whether it's the Eden Sessions lighting up the famous biomes, partying 'til dawn in Newquay, a breathtaking production at the open-air Minack Theatre, a rammed gig at The Stannary or trawling from pub to pub in Falmouth, each one with live music to entertain you, there is no shortage of after hours activities.

The beauty of Cornwall is that it is an open book. You can make your night out whatever you want it to be; organise your own boat party, promote your own gig, plan your own festival or just head along to the wealth of events on offer every night of the week.
