1 What is the Chaplaincy?

Welcome to the Chaplaincy at the University of Exeter. We hope you enjoy your time here as a chaplain and take part in everything that the University has to offer.

The Chaplaincy is a group of people from different religious traditions working together to serve the whole University Community; seeking wholeness, peace and justice through compassion, tolerance, wisdom and respect. We aspire to nurture and encourage spiritual awareness in those we meet, and we are open and available to everyone. We aim to be hospitable and inclusive at all times and we are located in the student Support Services Centre, The Forum and in the Chaplaincy Rooms, The Old Library (which includes areas for quiet, relaxation and a kitchen.) The Chaplaincy is coordinated by the Lazenby Chaplain, Revd Dr James Theodosius (Room 110, Old Library, 01392 725858; j.w.f.theodosius@exeter.ac.uk).

In recent times, we have set ourselves the three aims: to improve Chaplaincy communication with all aspects of the University; to encourage religious literacy within a secular environment; and to foster a sense of shared community at the heart of a large institution. We provide opportunities for worship and for faith to be nurtured and deepened. We also engage with those who have questions about the meaning of life. We are always ready to discuss issues of faith, daily living or any personal matter in confidence at all times. We all agree to abide by the University Multi Faith statement and the Equality and Diversity policies.

The team cover both the Streatham and St Luke’s campuses and is linked with the University of Exeter in Cornwall at the Penryn campus (shared with Falmouth University).

We maintain a weekly duty rota on the Streatham Campus during term time which means that there is a Chaplain on duty, based in The Forum, but wandering throughout the University each day during the week. The majority of our contact with students and staff is by encounter in their everyday life.
2 History of the University

The University of Exeter was founded and received its Royal Charter in 1955, although its predecessor institutions, the Royal Albert Memorial College and the University College of the South West of England, were established in 1900 and 1922 respectively. The University acquired the former St Luke’s College in 1978 which now forms the St Luke’s Campus. The University's Chancellor is Baroness Floella Benjamin, an actress, author and businesswoman. Its Vice-Chancellor is Professor Sir Steve Smith, a former President of Universities UK (2009–2011).

In March 2012, the university accepted an invitation to become a member of the Russell Group of leading research-oriented UK universities. The university was previously a member of the 1994 Group and is a member of Universities UK, the European University Association, and the Association of Commonwealth Universities.

The university has three campuses: Streatham; St Luke's (both of which are in Exeter); and Penryn in Cornwall. The university is centred in the city of Exeter, Devon, where it is the principal higher education institution. Streatham is the largest campus containing many of the university’s administrative buildings, and is regarded as one of the most beautiful in the country. The Penryn campus is maintained in conjunction with University College Falmouth under the Combined Universities in Cornwall (CUC) initiative.

The University of Exeter has been described by The Sunday Times as one of nine universities which form England’s unofficial "Ivy League" due to the high academic attainment of its entrants. The university was named Times Higher Education University of the Year 2007/2008, and has maintained a top ten position in the National Student Survey since the survey was launched in 2005. Exeter is currently ranked between 9th and 13th in the latest ranking compilations of universities in the United Kingdom.

There has been a Chaplain at the University from its origins, initially connected to the Mary Harris Memorial Chapel of the Holy Trinity (based on the Streatham Campus) and to the Theology Faculty. The Lazenby Chaplain is an official of the University, and is appointed jointly by representatives of the University, the Diocese of Exeter and the St Luke’s College Foundation. The Chaplaincy became multi faith in 2008 in accordance with the ethos of an international research based University and for the purposes of pursuing active inter faith dialogue between the major faith traditions.

Halls of Residence

Halls of Residence are situated all over the campus, [see map, p16]. There are several different types of accommodation. Catered, Self—a tered and City rented, all at various expenditure according to means.

It is good to familiarise yourself with where the residences are and to introduce yourself to the University Residents Life Team.

Where Residences are managed by outside agencies, it is essential for Chaplains to make contact with the Management of the Residences and introduce themselves to them. We do not have a right to enter any residence without permission.
5 Residence Life Teams

Residence Life Teams have an in-depth knowledge of the support and well-being services on offer at the University and provide support to students living in University accommodation. Living away from home in a new city (or country) can bring new challenges, so every student living in our accommodation is assigned a Residence Life Mentor who has experience of student life.

Students can speak to them confidentially about whatever is on their mind. And they will visit one evening a week to answer questions, help with any problems, and keep them up-to-date with what’s going on in the University and city.

Overnight, members of the Residence Life Night Patrol support Security by visiting residences. If anyone has a problem late at night they may contact security who will arrange for a member of the team to help.

Two full-time Residence Life Advisors lead the Residence Life Teams and are involved with student welfare across all the residences.

As a Chaplaincy Team we are invited to take part in the training of the Residence Life Teams and, if we feel it to be part of our ministry, we are allocated to a Residence Life Team (Red or Yellow) and are available to that Team for support and emergency contact. The Lazenby Chaplain is contactable 24/7 on the Chaplaincy emergency number. If you feel you would like to be involved in this support, please speak to the Lazenby Chaplain.
6 Where Do We Fit?

Within the University, the Chaplaincy Team sits within Academic Services, but we are also responsible to our different faith communities who are represented through the University Chaplaincy Sponsors Group.

7 Training

There are opportunities for Training to sharpen your Chaplaincy skills. A course from the churches Higher Education Group can provide insight into the role of a chaplain.

Chaplains are encouraged to seek out training which will help develop their role on campus and to engage with the staff online training.

Away Days

This is an opportunity for Chaplains to take time out to be together. The themes vary from discussing issues to listening to and learning from one another and our faiths. This helps the team to grow in fellowship and understanding as well as focussing on what is important to Chaplaincy.
8 Student Services

Student Support Services encompasses the Disability Resource Centre, Student Wellbeing, the International Student Support Office, Community Relations and close links with the Chaplaincy. The Chaplaincy University budget is set within the framework of Student Services and we fall within the structure of Academic Services. However, this is structural and it is important that we demonstrate that Chaplaincy is as much about staff as students.

The Student Records team within Registry Services are responsible for managing student records and for providing related services to students and staff. All Chaplains need to be registered as Associate Staff Members and this will be done through the Lazenby Chaplain. You are required to wear the registry badge when on campus.

Summer Graduation ceremonies are held each year in Exeter and in Cornwall with approximately 4600 students invited to attend. The ceremonies include the awarding of honorary degrees to distinguished individuals, by the University’s Chancellor, Baroness Floella Benjamin OBE. Chaplains have an opportunity to be involved in the timetable and usually opt in where they can spare the time.

The Wellbeing Services team, made up of counsellors and mental health practitioners, are all highly skilled and experienced in recognising how psychological and mental health difficulties can affect studies. We look to build a close relationship with the Wellbeing Services.

The International Student Support Office is dedicated to advising and supporting non-UK students on all campuses. We are also developing closer links with INTO a private language based school on campus.
9 Faith Communities

Anglican
The Anglican (Lazenby) Chaplain is currently the coordinator of the Chaplaincy Team and the only full time Chaplain on campus. The Lazenby Chaplain also oversees the two University chapels. The Mary Harris Chapel is on the Streatham campus and St Luke’s Chapel is on St Luke’s campus. Exeter city has a vibrant Cathedral at its heart and is served by different churches in each area of the city. You can find out more information from the Anglican Chaplains who support the 2 chapels on campus. The Anglican Chaplain’s office is in 110, 2nd floor, Old Library.

Baha’i
Baha’i meet in each others’ homes for fellowship and devotions. There are about 12 Baha’i in Exeter, and some 50 Baha’i in Devon

Baptist
There are 4 Baptist churches in Exeter. South Street, Pinhoe Road, Exwick Community Church, and St Thomas, who all belong to the Baptist Union in Great Britain. Each church has many different activities and work within their respective communities. For more information you can talk to the Baptist Chaplain.

Buddhist
There are 8 Buddhist communities in the Exeter area. A list of these can be found in the Buddhist Chaplaincy leaflet. If you would like more information, have a chat with the Buddhist Chaplains.

Catholic
The Catholic Chaplaincy is based at Boniface House, near Duryard and is home to the Chaplain, Assistant Chaplain and four students. As a community, we are here to support Catholic students and staff on their journey of faith. We meet regularly to listen and proclaim the Word of God, to celebrate Mass and the Sacraments and to offer hospitality with shared meals and free Sunday lunches. We have a bar, library, communal kitchen and large meeting room which is used by many groups including the Catholic Society who arrange weekly talks and social evenings.

Hindu
The Nearest Hindu Temple to Exeter is in Bristol. Hindu Community in Exeter have got together, since April 2010 and Exeter Hindu Temple holds regular monthly prayer meetings on the last weekend of every month (Saturday/Sunday). details of which can be found on EHT Website: ww.exeterhindutemple.co.uk or from University Hindu

Chaplains do have contacts for other faith communities in Exeter and District, please see contact list at the back of this booklet.

Independent Churches
There are many Independent Christian Churches active in the Exeter community. A church is classed as Independent when it does not work from any of the five main denominations. Most of the Churches in the Exeter area belong to an International Ministry such as Assemblies of God, Network, New Frontiers, Elim, Pentecostal, Salt and Light. There is also a Chinese Church which meets in Sidwell Street.

Jewish
Jews have lived and worshipped in Exeter for over 250 years. The synagogue, which was built in 1763, is small, beautiful and still used regularly for services. It has been carefully restored by successive generations, and has recently undergone another major restoration. The synagogue, by its very existence and antiquity, forms a focal point for the Jewish identity of many Jews living in the South West. The community provides religious services, social and educational activities, cultural events and other forms of contact for Jewish people, and for our many friends. We actively promote inter-faith understanding.

Methodist
There is a city centre Methodist circuit centred on the Mint and Sidwell Street, Wonford, St Thomas’ and various other areas. For full information contact the Methodist Chaplain. There is a lively and active community who welcomes everyone.

Muslim
The recently opened mosque is in York Street Exeter. There are prayer rooms provided on Streatham and St Luke’s campus. Please refer to Mohammed Abrar for any information who is also the Imam as well as a Chaplain.

Quaker
There is a Quaker meeting house in Exeter attended by 50-80 each Sunday, plus a Thursday lunch time meeting in central Exeter. Term-time meetings also at the university. We also meet for fellowship and socialising in small geographically convenient groups, usually monthly, and for pre-meeting breakfasts. Lots going on, and a friendly welcome.

United Reformed Church
URC was formed in 1972 by the uniting of the British Congregational and Presbyterian Churches. We were the first to ordain women as Ministers (1917). We may offer remarriage to divorcees and are one of the first denominations to legally accept gay clergy and permit registration of civil partnerships. Reformed churches worldwide are the 3rd largest Christian grouping behind Catholics and Anglicans. We welcome all who wish to explore faith, sharing safely both our questions and our certainties. Our communion table is open to all who wish to respond to Christ’s invitation to meet him there. We are a non-hierarchical church served by our ordained Elders and Minster, but guiding church life in regular meetings of all our members at which we together “seek the mind of Christ”.

There are other small faith communities in Exeter which have contact with the Devon Faith and Belief Forum but do not sponsor a Chaplain. Contacts can be found in the Contacts list at the back.
10 Finance

The Chaplaincy Team is financed through Academic Services. Our budget covers a part-time administrator and any events, resources that are necessary. We decide as a team how we allocate our resources.

The Anglican Chaplaincy is also in receipt of a budget from the St Luke’s College Foundation which holds the University Lazenby Trust Fund for use of Anglican Chaplaincy at the University of Exeter. As well as funds from the Diocese of Exeter, this covers the cost of the full time Chaplain and provides for Christian ministry on campus.

The faith communities in Exeter also contribute into a separate fund held in University accounts and this money is designated for particular Chaplaincy events or needs and cannot be reclaimed by the University. Faith communities are encouraged to contribute to this fund each year—largely as a method of responsibility and involvement towards the Chaplaincy at the University. We ask for about £100 from each community each year, but this is NOT a requirement and faith communities should not feel obliged to contribute in this way—your time and gifts are quite sufficient!

The Chaplaincy budget should cover your expenses, but they need to be agreed before you make them. Expenses can be claimed using the University’s own expense forms, currently at www.exeter.ac.uk/finance/operations/forms/ and submitted through a member of the Chaplaincy Team who can sign them. (Currently James Theodosius and Tony Reese).

The Treasurer will report back to the Chaplaincy Team meeting, detailing how the current budget is being spent, and will advise what can or cannot be claimed. The Treasurer is also expected to report to the University on the way the budget is being spent. The University will expect us to keep within the budget, or request further funding if it appears to be insufficient.
11 Library/Internet

Your ID card, when you are registered, is also linked to the Library, Internet Access and to photocopying on the printer in the Student Support area.

ID CARD
The Co-ordinating Chaplain will need to register you online as an authorising signature is required. You will be registered as an Associate Staff Member which entitles you to all the normal staff discounts, including the D bus. A passport photo is required for your ID badge and it is useful for the Chaplaincy to have a digital photo of you on record.

LIBRARY
The Library offers core services for learning and research. Whilst the various locations house a large collection of materials and services, many of the resources are available online through their website for you to use at home, work or wherever you are located.

The rules and regulations relating to the Exeter Library service are published in the University Calendar.

INTERNET
To activate your IT account and receive your IT username and password, please:
Read the regulations at www.exeter.ac.uk/it/regulations/regs
Note in particular that:

• You must keep your password secret. University staff will never ask for your password, in person or by email
• You must not use, copy, download or distribute copyright material (such as full-length feature films) without permission
• You must not send email spam. Learn how to protect your cyberspace
• Promptly install all security patches for your computer and smartphone
• Run anti-virus software on your computer and make sure the definitions are up to date
• Never click links or attachments in emails unless you know the sender and you were expecting the message
• Never log in over the Internet except on a secure connection (look for the browser's locked padlock symbol)

PRINTER
To use the printer or photocopy, in the Student Support Services area you will need some brief training and be given the access code. Some training will be arranged for you as part of your Induction.
12 Badges/Uniform

Although the Uniform worn by Chaplains is optional, it has proved to be a visual reference for all students and staff. The uniform is usually ordered once a year.

There are a variety of casual styles all in Chaplaincy blue with the University badge on the left breast and ‘Chaplaincy Team’ on the back

You can order......

A Zipped Hoodie
A Sweat Shirt
Polo shirts/long and short sleeved
T Shirts/long and short sleeved
A Rugby Shirt/short and long sleeved

The stash is ordered through Arena Screen and Design so if you want to have a look at the different designs you can go to the website at:

http://www.arenascreen.co.uk/

There is no pressure for you to wear the uniform only if you choose to do so. It does acknowledge you are part of a team and who that team is. If the very thought goes against who you are then please choose to be yourself. Many Chaplains do.
13 Travel/Parking

Parking is not easy on any of the University Campuses. You are entitled to a permit, but will need to prove you legitimacy. Details can be found at:

www.exeter.ac.uk/staff/stafflife/carparking/payment/

You will need to have proof of your Associate Status before applying. Any expenses can be claimed on Chaplaincy budget.

Pay and Display
Pay and display car parking is permitted on the Streatham Campus. There is very limited pay and display parking at St Luke’s and on the Cornwall Campus. Payment machines can be found at or close to each parking area.
A part of parking income will be used to support the University’s Green Travel Plan.

16 Important Dates - useful to put in your diary!

University term dates can be found simply by searching the university website. The Chaplaincy Team look to be present on campus during term time only with occasional events outside of term time – the Lazenby Chaplain is on duty throughout the year.

We have our TEAM MEETINGS fortnightly on TUESDAY AFTERNOONS at 2.15 pm in term time, with occasional meetings before or after term dates. It is very helpful to have as full a team as possible at the meetings.

FRESHERS’ WEEK and TRAINING WEEK
Freshers’ Week is the week before the start of the Autumn term and is an important week so good to have as many folk as possible available all week. The week before can also have important meetings eg with new Residence Life Teams and provides a good opportunity for building relationships with key people.

GRADUATIONS take place mainly in late July and the University does appreciate one of us to be present on the platform.

OPEN DAYS. Wednesdays in the Spring term are for offer holding prospective students from each department in turn. We staff a Chaplaincy Stall each week on a rota between us. There are also other open days for prospective students throughout the year.

CHAPLAINCY SPONSORS MEETINGS are held twice a year in the evening, once in January and once in July. This is when the team meets with our respective Sponsors and a representative of the University to review the work of the Chaplaincy and discuss any matters of mutual importance.

AWAY DAYS happen about once a term as described in the Training Section [on page 9]
